

Sydney Forman

No one wants this data center. Start letting citizens vote on whether or not they want data centers in their communities & start putting them in places where they're okay with it. The people do not want AI. The only people that care about it are the millionaires who invested in it. We've seen bubbles like this before & it WILL pop. Stop forcing communities to suffer for your own financial gain. Start listening to the people who care about our communities & their planet. We're all begging you to listen.