

Diane Laughlin

Stop this insanity. Building a data center in a desert is not only irresponsible, but disastrous. We already don't have enough water in New Mexico and the pollution this will cause is unacceptable. Most of Southern New Mexico is already compromised by oil and gas. Please. You can't drink data, and breathing pollution of this magnitude is not healthy. I'm sure the people who are responsible for building this data center would not want to live anywhere near it. This must be stopped now!