

Kairee Eastman

The environmental and human cost of data centers is too high. We as a society do not need them or AI at all for that matter. This is all born from human greed and not from any kind of necessity and it's going to do irreparable harm to our planet.