I am a resident of Albuquerque, New Mexico but my family has been in the Las Cruces area for several generations. I love this city, and want to see future generations enjoy it as much as I did growing up and visiting here. The health concerns surrounding fuel cells, including but not limited to, hazardous waste, high carbon dioxide release and extreme heat that could damage the land further will make a significant impact on the environment. My family's health and safety should be worth more than the profits of out-of-state corporations. Please consider people over profit. New Mexico does not need this.
