

Constance Barnes

Carbon dioxide emissions of this extreme amount will be extremely harmful. Not to mention the space that data centers take up and the water that they consume. The combined emissions and space will cause the temperatures to go up and will compromise water and land in the surrounding area. Emissions of that degree would have larger scale impact than just the surrounding areas.