

Anonymous Anonymous

I deeply oppose the construction of Project Jupiter. Building this data center is a severe offense to the health of the air, water, and ecosystem (humans and animals included) around it. The advancement of technology is moot if we continue to destroy our only home, and ultimately create a future where life on Earth cannot exist. I don't believe the credibility of anyone working on Project Jupiter and their claims that this move is truly for the benefit of humanity because they do not realize the reality of having a data center in your neighborhood. I urge every single person on this project to try living in the neighborhood of an existing data center for ONE CONTINUOUS MONTH. Experience the unclean water that drips slowly out of the taps. Experience the noise and air pollution. Experience the increased cost of living due to having to purchase extra resources (such as clean bottled water) just to survive.