

Briana Gonzales

Project Jupiter and the like are using every unfair tactic to make it seem like New Mexicans want new data centers. The same centers that have increased pollution, climate heat, and waste of water. New Mexicans names are being used falsely to secure favor for these centers which again should automatically disqualify them from anything. We don't need data centers we need to protect what little water, air, and wildlife we have left as well as our future and family's future. The companies don't care about us in the long term so we must do it. No data centers in New Mexico.