Hello, I don't live in New Mexico, But I'm afraid of the precedent Project Jupiter will set if it is actually built. They just want more and more and more land. How much is enough? Until our land is no longer usable? Until our skies can no longer allow us to breathe? Until AI has encroached even further into everyday life, moreso than it already has? Not to even get into the detrimental effects AI has on the brain. The earth is already being damaged by AI data centers. The globe is warming and everybody sees it, the latest heatwave is just a side effect. The greenhouse gasses that will be emitted by Project Jupiter will just speed this up. I know that I do not live there, but think of the families that will be damaged by the pollution Project Jupiter will subject. Light, sound, air, water. When will it be enough for you? How many voices does it take? This will not only hurt New Mexico, it will not hurt just America, but it will hurt the entire world. Don't let yourself become complacent in the destruction of your home. I wish we could talk to you face to face, so you could see every person that would be irreversibly hurt by Project Jupiter (and other such similar projects) coming into reality. The truth is I'm scared of this world I'm living in. Scared that people can be so easily swayed by money to double back on their values. I'm just 19, whole life ahead of me, and this is what me and others like me will inherit. Is it worth it? To leave behind a wasteland for your children to rule? It can't be, it never will be. Money isn't forever, the land is if we put in work to protect it. I know you may think it won't effect you, as you probably don't live in the would be effected town, but soon you'll see the horrors you've unleashed, the doors you opened for this virus to infect our land. Please make the right decision. Do not let Project Jupiter stand. Thank you.
