

Andrew Johnson-Schmit

The Southwest is already having water resource issues that will be near impossible to meet in the years ahead because of the historic drought and increasing effects of global warming. This project is unnecessary, makes the current calamitous situation worse and is clearly not in the best interests of people in this region. Shut down this project now!