

María Valdes

Project Jupiter would threaten the limited water supply New Mexico communities have, every year we get less and less snowfall, the río grande dries up earlier, this is possibly the worst place to choose to build a data center. People need the water, not data centers.