

Taniyah Grant

We should not be building a data center that will cause harm to not only the environment close to the center but to the planet itself. AI is not a need it is a want, the planet however, IS INFACT a NEED. Climate change has already been affecting us and our planet and instead of taking action to prevent more damage this plan would make it worse. I doubt the residents located near this proposed data center would agree with it being built. Therefore, I propose that a meeting should be had with the residents that provide them factual information on this project how it can affect them. There should also be a translator present at the meeting so no word gets lost. The public should be given an additional 60 days to review and comment on the air quality permit so community members can participate equitably. That is the least they are owed in the disheartening attempt to ruin their environment and harm our planet for the greed of AI. I do not agree with Project Jupiter.