

Myra Bernard

This project is still not being transparent in its new advertising push about the water usage and carbon emissions resulting from this data center. I am glad the development has taken initiative towards lowering its water and energy usage and its impacts on community resources, but there has still been no environmental impact assessment and intentional limits to transparency all throughout the process. People do not want these!!!! Stop pushing them on the public.