

Lamichhane Samridhi

I believe data centers like project Jupiter will be a huge harm to our environment including all the natural resources surrounding it, increasing the already worsening climate change. No matter what we do, we all know that we can't eat money so its better to leave the Earth as it is, without nudging it and pushing its limit any further. It destroys the air, water, land and everything else. It uses extensive amount of water to cool the systems. the water dont return to the water cycle hence harming the local watersheds and resources which also disrupts the lifestyle of the people who use the same water resources. Not to mention all the carbon emission it will cause due to the wide use of energy spoiling the air quality as well. This puts the health of people in risk. Slowly but surely, people's lungs will get damaged, they will suffer from asthma and will even cause kidney, live, heart and brain damage.