

Grace Mason

Allowing project Jupiter to proceed would be an egregious trespassing on already incredibly limited water resources and our fragile environment. The corporate greed pushing the project forward needs to go elsewhere, not New Mexico. The potential for environmental contamination should be enough alone to stop this.