This data center is not as important as the well being of all the communities affected by the lack of water caused by the construction of it.

Approving this permit would be government-sponsored environmental racism as residents of Doña Ana County are already disproportionately impacted by environmental pollution.

For years, Doña Ana County has been called a 'nonattainment' zone— this means our air quality does not meet federal government rules.

New Mexico Environment Department should provide the public with an additional 60 days to review and comment on the air quality permit so community members can participate equitably.

Deny the air quality permit application, given Bloom Energy's history of illegal dumping hazardous waste.

If the permit is not denied, a public hearing needs to be held in Santa Teresa, in both English and Spanish, with an option to participate virtually.
