

Anonymous Anonymous

Please do not ruin our current ecosystem and environment. My understanding of this project is that it will lead to more concerns for the individuals near the area, pollute the environment for unreasonable outcomes, and create issues for the future generations to deal with the idea that this is for their future. What is the point of creating a center that will also contribute to is finding out a way to reverse its effects? How can this center be more important than the HUMAN lives that will and are disproportionately harmed? Or the animals and wildlife near the area? How can anyone in the committee of project Jupiter be okay knowing thousands of people do not support their endeavors? We have many other concerns to worry about as the general public, adding this project to an area already facing a climate change impacts. This plea for everyone involved to think about the consequences for the future of our families, future generations, the animals, the wildlife, and the climate as a whole. Instead of wholeheartedly believing this is an advancement for humanity or the US when we are already suffering through inflation and its consequences.