

M Martin

The entire SW region of the US is in the midst of a record drought. Groundwater is declining, rivers are drying up. The Rio Grande is running dry by the time it reaches Albuquerque. Regardless of what their upbeat TV ads say, the "Project Jupiter" data center will consume more water than New Mexico can replace. Don't let this disastrous endeavor go any further.