

Jennifer Luna-Martinez

My name is Jennifer Luna, and I am from Tularosa, New Mexico. I am the mother of a one-year-old son who was born in Las Cruces. The thought of my son growing up in a world where AI is prioritized over clean air and healthy communities is heartbreaking. It is absolutely sick that our children are expected to bear the consequences of massive pollution so corporations can power AI data centers. I strongly urge you to reject Yucca Growth Infrastructure, LLC's air permit application. Changing the company's name and calling it a different technology does not change the fact that this project would still produce enormous greenhouse gas emissions, generate hazardous waste, and put New Mexico families at risk. Our communities are not testing grounds for unproven technology, and our children should not have to pay the price for corporate expansion. As a mother, I refuse to accept that this is the future we're building. My son deserves clean air, a safe environment, and leaders who will protect New Mexico instead of approving projects that threaten it. Please reject this permit. Choose New Mexico's children, our health, and our future over corporate profits. Sincerely, Jennifer Luna Tularosa, New Mexico THIS IS THE LAND OF ENCHANTMENT DO BETTER. SAVE THE LAND OF ENCHANTMENT
