

milla bussey

I urge you to stop Project Jupiter. I live in Finland, far from the proposed site, and I'm still deeply concerned about what this project represents. We're in a climate crisis, and building massive new data centers for AI, with their enormous energy and water demands, is moving in exactly the wrong direction. These projects benefit a tiny number of tech companies while the rest of us bear the environmental cost. The land, the water, the local community, none of it should be sacrificed for something that serves profit, not people. Please reconsider and put this project on hold permanently.