

Jarod Buell

I live with severe asthma. A condition that only worsened after I contracted covid. I still attend a pulmonologist and physical therapy for breathing issues three years after contracting it. I don't need to check the air quality index because I feel it when I wake up. I feel it when I go to work or try to just exist in the world.

I fear this data center and it's component power plant will chain me to my bedroom air filter. I already struggle so much in the summer months with wildfires and allergies and heat. I strongly oppose Project Jupiter's construction.
