

Andrew Young

The high amount of comment submissions earlier today who are in favor of the project, but used the same copy/pasted wording is alarming.

It is difficult to trust the permit application process if those comments are not vetted and thrown out if they were made by a bot farm.