

Connie Albert

The data center would utilize more energy and water and with our limited resources. Is this the best use of what we have left to survive. We need water for the people. While technology is in demand we have to figure out a better way than a data center.