Communities all over have been dealing with the damage that data centers have been causing. It's not a secret that data centers just like this one is doing much more harm than good to our planet and our people all for some millionaires to make more money. The New Mexico Environment Department can help their community stand up for their environment and be one of the few that decide enough is enough. It can help out rather than shying away from businesses who have shown time and again that they do not care about people nor the environment and only care for what would give them the most money. Here's how the Air Quality Bureau can help; give the public an additional 60 days to review and comment on the air quality permit so that the community members can participate equitably, the air quality permit should be denied given Bloom Energy's history of illegal dumping hazardous waste, if the permit is not denied, finally a public hearing needs to be held in Santa Teresa, in both English and Spanish, with an option to participate virtually. Approving this permit would be government-sponsored environmental racism as residents of Dona Ana County are already disproportionately impacted by environmental pollution. This needs to stop. Join hands with each other and protect your families and friends along with our planet. If we get the ball rolling, it will cause more to join in and defend against these greedy millionaires. We can protect our earth, our future but only if we work together. Please, we can heal America, heal our planet, but only if we work together.
