

Kimberly Steele

I am not a resident of New Mexico. But as someone who has basic human decency, I know that it is far more important to prioritize the actual people living in an area. A data center to run AI to think for us has no real long term benefit to the community and will only take away clean drinking water from people who need it. We need to start using our brains and stop having AI do it all for us.