Project Jupiter should not be built because its potential costs and risks may outweigh its expected benefits. The project could have serious environmental consequences, including the destruction of natural habitats, increased pollution, and the loss of green spaces that many plant and animal species depend on for survival. Construction and ongoing operations may disturb wildlife, disrupt migration patterns, and reduce biodiversity, causing long-term damage to local ecosystems.

"The public should be given an additional 60 days to review and comment on the air quality permit so community members can participate equitably.

The air quality permit application should be denied outright given Bloom Energy's history of illegal dumping hazardous waste. Approving this permit would be government-sponsored environmental racism directed at residents of Doña Ana County.

If the permit is not denied outright, a public hearing needs to be held in Santa Teresa, in both English and Spanish, with an option to participate virtually."
