

Elliot Albarran

My name is Elliot Albarran and I am very concerned with what the consequences would be if the Jupiter project were to be done to completion. AI data centers already have affected communities of people and environments of animals that work in the cycle of keeping our Earth healthy. If this center is built I genuinely believe the effects of that will be permanent unless we do something. AI has never been necessary to this degree before, so we definitely don't need it to this degree now.
