

Catherine Brenholdt

I am against any data centers in New Mexico. I am proud of the efforts displayed in my state to keep people safe during a time when the freedom and lives of so many Americans are under threat. A data center can only be a direct threat to those efforts. We do not need a data center. The negative environmental impacts will be catastrophic. It will be a drain on resources that continue to grow more and more limited as we have reached the point of climate crisis. I say no to data centers for the good of my community and the well being of all citizens of New Mexico.