

Rylee anonymous

I don't believe this data center should be approved as there is no need for it quite frankly and the switch is only to bypass old laws to poison the community this will effect everyone not just New Mexico, as someone who lives in Oklahoma I believe this could interfere with migratory birds due to the noise these centers create as well as all the waste they produce in the water can't be good for the environment. Especially if a company cannot run without taking water from a state notorious for its droughts and dry climate. On top of that centers like these are notorious for not being forthcoming with information. Even if they use other methods it still produces massive amounts of waste.