

David Taggart

I categorically object to foreign interests moving into the state to hijack our precious and meager water and power resources in New Mexico. The move to build wasteful and destructive data centers could not be more opposed to the New Mexican quality of life than if we set the entire state on fire. I strongly urge the NMED board to reject this dangerous and malign attempt to usurp what little natural resources we have left.