

Spencer Pennypacker

Project Juniper will not help the community at all. It will only help corporations and outsiders who make more money than most New Mexicans see in a lifetime. They will not pour back into the community, not even to volunteer or donate while they are there. The data center will not provide jobs for the local community, it will be mostly traveling construction workers. The environmental impact alone will cause massive disruption to the local ecosystems and communities and make water shortages even more severe than current conditions.