

William Seward

A data center would put a strain on already scarce water resources and consume exorbitant amounts of electricity. This construction is not in the best interest of New Mexicans and should be stopped.