

Sydney Collins

We do not need or want data centers. We only get one earth that generations have lived before us and where future generations will live after our time has passed. Everyone should have autonomy over what happens to our one home, once we lose it there is no other planet we can all go live on carefree. We get one home and it should be somewhere we can not only survive, but THRIVE. Building this data center will go against all of this, we do not need more data centers. The people do not want this, please don't go through with it.