

Pavčina Juklová

Please stop project Jupiter it's not helping our planet and population at all. We are killing our planet. Data centers are absolutely useless and damage the environment. And what happens when the environment is damaged? It affects us and animals. After you finish building these data centers, what will you gain from this? The water sources will run dry and nobody can live without it. The only thing that will remain is the money in your pocket. But money won't save you from the damage that will be done.
