

Belle Forte

It is ludicrous to think that building a massive water-intensive and air and noise pollution-making data center in the desert is a wise idea. Our resources in New Mexico are all ready limited and not worth the trade off of a handful of jobs. This construction project will have environmental impacts for generations of New Mexicans.