

Amber Diego

I do not want a data center in NM. I remember what ASARCO did to El Paso. If a data center can promise/prove that it will actually benefit the environment and leave no trace (not the same as buying credit like coal plants do), then the independent scientists should verify data center plans and assure the public it is safe. It is not safe in its current form at all. Permits should not be allowed in its current form.