

Zyri Morales

The Earth is already going through much irreversable damage. A grand project like this will only increase this damage at an exponential rate. We have made it this far without data centers, so we do not need them now. Not even up to the present were they wanted by majority vote, but they were created anyway. Together, we vote stop project Jupiter.