Project Jupiter seems to have been foisted on Dona Ana County with little opportunity for public input, and rushed in a manner to cause reasonable suspicion that the potential negative impacts have not been adequately considered. This behavior continues with this Air Quality Construction Permit Application. The claims made about air quality, how the estimates were reached, and how enforcement will work are not detailed enough for our community to make informed decisions about whether this is a good idea. The lack of effective outreach and dearth of information coming from Project Jupiter should be enough in and of themselves to prompt NMED to reject this application.
