

Abbey Henley

As a New Mexican homeowner and true lover of the outdoors, this is an extremely detrimental situation to bring to the picture. This Data Center is being put into a severely overburdened and drought ridden state, surrounded by people who have had to live for decades with already poisoned air/water/soil and the health effects of all of the aforementioned. This world does not need more Data centers. The climate is already in such upheaval. You are absolutely ruining the goodness of this beautiful sacred land with your greed and money hunger. This kind of project isn't forward thinking. And the people protesting it are not stupid luddites, either. You should be healing the stressed environment of NM and putting this money towards figuring out how to protect the land, the wilderness, and the people of NM. New Mexico was just listed 50th in education, one of the lowest qualities of life for children, homelessness, animal abuse, crime, and drug use everywhere...and no money to help any of that...but plenty of money to plop a resource hog into the middle of an already strapped community who is struggling? SHAME ON YOU. Not one person in NM wants this except the people who are financially benefitting from it and don't have to live beside it. LISTEN TO THE PEOPLE AND THE BEAUTIFUL ENVIRONMENT WHO YOU WILL UNDOUBTEDLY KILL WITH THIS PROJECT. STOP THINKING WITH YOUR POCKETS.

DO THE RIGHT THING AND STOP THIS. Please!