

Milka Leinonen

Our planet is literally already in shambles. This is not needed. We've been absolutely fine before, why do this now? We are experiencing immense heatwaves and natural disasters caused by climate change, which WE ourselves have caused. We do realise how harmful this is to all people around the entire world and to our own environment, right? Do not make these decisions before taking into account ALL perspectives. Put your damn brains to use.