

Nathan Gusta

Please do not let this project happen. New Mexico is already in horrible drought, and a data center will quickly poison what water we have left to survive here. Building this project is the worst possible thing that could happen in new mexico right now.