Project Jupiter is a risk to the environment and to those who live nearby. It poses a great threat to our ecosystems and wildlife, and prioritising economic success over health and the environment is purely selfish. This project will disrupt many lives, humans and animals, and should be stopped immediately. Additionally, fulfilling such would mean tonnes of water is wasted, even after the water crisis, further inflicting harm on communities and the wellbeing of the planet. Along with the copious amounts of greenhouse gases that will be pumped into the atmosphere. Project Jupiter is dangerous, and should not be continued.
