

Anthony Lowe

In the middle of a historic drought, when our air quality is constantly dangerous because of pollution and forest fires, the last thing we need is data center in NM. Even a child can see right and wrong here.