

anonymous anonymous

The Rio Grande is dry. This data centre is not needed and not wanted. The Air quality permit application must be denied. It must be denied as Bloom Ebeegy have proven they cannot be trusted with environmental responsibility through their history of illegally dumping hazardous materials. Additionally the public body, the people of New Mexico, should be allowed an additional 60 days at least to review and reflect upon the proposal, so as to ensure equitable opportunity for community members to have a voice in such a major development proposal. You are compromising our collective future by building it. When historians ask us in the near future who killed New Mexico we will point towards the cowards and evil men behind project Jupiter. For cowards sit behind AI and big tech infrastructure instead of fighting for climate solutions and sustainability in our communities. Don't be the bad guys, be better. No Project Jupiter. The approval of this permit would fall under government sponsored environmental racism and should the permit not be denied then a public hearing must take place in both English and Spanish in Santa Teresa, with the opportunity for members of the public to participate in person or online. Information pertaining to the gearing should be widely available, easily accessible, in both English and Spanish, and non-threatening. This development poses a dangerous risk to public health across this community. Project Jupiter is not only an extreme threat to New Mexico but to the world as should it be approved it sets a dare I say apocalyptic precedent for other large AI infrastructure developments which will act like parasites on our planet, sucking us dry of resources that we desperately need to survive. Invest in our future, no project Jupiter.