

Muriel Watkins

The construction of this data center should not go through. New Mexicans do not deserve worse air quality for the profit of billionaires. Not only will this data center cause an immense decline in quality of life, it will use valuable resources no matter what type of fuel it is powered by due to the water processes the data centers go through. Using what little water desert communities need is simply not feasible for anyone who actually lives here.