

Chanelle Bartlett

I am a resident living in England and being informed of the MASSACRE being inflicted onto nature and putting people's lives at stake. AI data centres are destroying the land we live on. Destroying the environment, habits, water. I refuse to believe anyone building this data centre is thinking about anyone but themselves. This is selfish and inhumane. Water resources are becoming more scarce day by day, this problem is not even in my own country yet I feel the need to speak out on the idiocy of the situation. Stop building the centres because you and your families are going to be left with dirty water like many are today, stop building data centres and destroying the land of the wild, stop building data centres where it's proven the climate crisis will only worsen because of it. Have PRIDE in living on earth and having the privilege to continue living life. Protect the air! STOP DATA CENTRES.