

C.J. White

Project Jupiter's data centers demand unnecessary amounts of drinking water from a state and region already facing water shortages. The Rio Grande has already dried up here in Albuquerque, and yet these AI companies are interested in taking even more water even further down stream. Do not let this project go through for the sake of not only Doña Ana and its surrounding counties, but for New Mexico and our neighboring states, both in the US and our friends across the river in Mexico.