

Kevin Washburn

This will be the third comment I have submitted, one of them a twist on the comment supplied by Project Jupiter themselves and the other simply stating "Please leave".

I, and everyone else I know personally, want Project Jupiter out. Not just them, but all data centers. Any person sitting in office that votes in support of Jupiter will find themselves voted out, I can almost guarantee that. They will become a pariah.

The natural beauty of this state will be horrendously scarred by this heinous, destructive, disgusting project. There is no amount of money that will make it okay, there is no promise that Jupiter will keep. This data center will be the death of this county.

One of the largest draws of this area, to everyone out of state that I have spoken with, is it's natural beauty and accessibility. Putting down a data center will ruin this, and will ruin the local ecology. Look at how other data centers have changed the areas they're around. Water quality drops despite promises they won't, endless sound, immense power draws, unlawful security surveillance.

This data center will drive many out of this area, and it will be the fault of all who support it.

Do the right thing, and don't let the money blind you.

Get this vile, inhumane, ugly thing out of our state.