

Luca Ingeli

We didn't need AI before, we don't need it now. There are unemployed people out there who would happily do those jobs while being able to survive and not killing the environment.