

Roger Garcia

Data centers are just killing the environment and making price of living harder for people. There's no need for them if they don't benefit in anyway except for the people above.