

Megan Gleason

We don't need data centers. They are not as beneficial to New Mexican citizens or citizens of the world. Vote no on the permit, and ban data centers all together. We need to stop using New Mexico and its people as a testing ground for new technologies, the technologies that harm the environment, and us included and every living thing between. Additionally, if you approve this permit the people who voted you into office will understand that you all are more beholden to bribes (which you shouldn't be accepting anyways) than you are to us the people of New Mexico, the ones you beg to vote for you. Your vote is your integrity, so use it wisely and stand with the people, vote no to the permit and permanently ban data centers.